Global Environmental Health and Sustainable Development Innovation Collaborative Webinar series

*Organized by the Institute of Medicine (IOM) with the support of the Pan American Health Organization (PAHO)
and the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences (NIEHS)

The Global Environmental Health and Sustainable Development Innovation Collaborative will host a 3-part webinar series, under the coordination of the Roundtable on Environmental Health Sciences, Research, and Medicine (EHSRM Roundtable). The webinars will focus on the United Nations post-2015 development agenda process—a process that will advance a new development agenda for the world as the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) reach the target date of 2015. The aim of the webinar series is to engage members of academia, government organizations, professional societies, and students at schools of public health in dialogue around health, economic development, equity, sustainability, and environmental challenges and to stimulate fresh thinking on possible solutions.

For more information, please visit http://www.iom.edu/Activities/Environment/EnvironmentalHealthRT/2012-OCT-18.aspx

Upcoming Event: Webinar 3 on December 20: Making Linkages between Sustainable Development, Equity, and Social Justice *
More Information Coming Soon*

Webinar 2: Integrating the MDG's with the Pillars and Principles of Sustainable Development

November 15, 2012

New Recording of Webinar 2 available Here !

Webinar Goals and Objectives:

· Discuss how the global development framework may evolve to include environmental, economic, and social goals of sustainable development.

· Provide a vision for integrating health and achieving intersectoral collaboration with the post-2015 development agenda process.

· Identify metrics for assessing trends and tracking progress on shared goals of global environmental health and sustainable development.

11:00–11:10 am Opening

John Balbus, M.D., M.P.H. (moderator) Senior Advisor for Public Health, National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences (NIEHS)

11:10–11:25 am Bridging the Gap between the MDGs and Principles of Sustainable Development

Kristie L. Ebi, Ph.D., M.P.H. Consulting Professor, Department of Medicine, Stanford University

11:25–11:40 am Transitioning to an Integrated View of Health in the Post-2015 Development Agenda Process

Andrew Haines, M.D., MBBS, Professor of Public Health and Primary Care, London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine

11:40–11:55 am Describing Mutual Metrics among Economic and Social Development, Environmental Protection, and Human Health

Christopher J.L. Murray, M.D., D.Phil. Director, Institute for Health Metrics and Evaluation, University of Washington

11:55–12:25 pm Discussion

12:25–12:30 pm Closing

John Balbus, M.D., M.P.H.

12:30 pm ADJOURN

Webinar 1: Understanding the Post-2015 Development Agenda Process and Opportunities and Challenges that Lay Ahead

October 18, 2012

Recording of Webinar 1 available Here !

Webinar Goals and Objectives:

· Provide an overview of ongoing United Nations (UN) teams and panels focusing on the post-2015 development agenda process.

· Discuss lessons learned from the MDG agenda process, highlighting perspectives of developing countries.

· Identify opportunities and challenges that lay ahead with the post-2015 development agenda.

Agenda

11:00 am Opening John Balbus, M.D., M.P.H. (moderator) Senior Advisor for Public Health, National Institue of Environmental Health Sciences (NIEHS)

11:10 am Overview of the Post-2015 Development Agenda Process and Description of

Health-Focused Initiatives Maria Neira, M.D. Director, Public Health and Environment, World Health Organization (WHO)

Panel Discussion

Lessons Learned from the MDG Agenda and Insights on Opportunities and Challenges with the Post-2015 Development Agenda Process

11:20 am David Serwadda, M.B.Ch.B., M.Sc., M.Med., M.P.H. (invited) Professor of Disease Control and Environmental Health, Makerere School of Public Health, Uganda

11:30 am Paulo Buss, M.D., M.P.H. Former President, Oswaldo Cruz Foundation (FIOCRUZ), Brazil

11:40 am Zehra Aydin, M.A. Senior Program Officer, United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP)

11:50 am Discussion

12:25 pm Closing John Balbus, M.D., M.P.H.

12:30 pm ADJOURN

ABC